

UDC 83.11

IRSTI 16.21.25

<https://doi.org/10.48371/PHILS.2025.2.77.005>

COMPARISON OF LEXICAL-SEMANTIC GROUPS OF THE OLD UYGHUR AND KAZAKH LANGUAGES

*Burkitbayeva Sh.D.¹, Ashirkulov K.²

¹ the Department of Modern Turkic Languages, Istanbul University, Faculty of Literature, Istanbul, Turkiye

² the Department of Turkish Language and Literature, Niğde Ömer Halisdemir University, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, Nigde, Turkiye

Abstract. The article compares the lexical-semantic groups of the ancient Uyghur and Kazakh languages, which are related to the Turkic languages. The similarities of the words in the two languages are analyzed in terms of sound and meaning. The purpose of the article is to determine the extent to which the words used in the ancient Uyghur language are used in the modern Kazakh language, and to clarify their kinship by comparing the lexical-semantic groups of the two languages. The relevance of the article is that the lexical-semantic groups of the ancient Uyghur and Kazakh languages, which have never been considered extensively in the Kazakh language, are being scientifically addressed for the first time.

The examples given in the article were taken from the text of "Sekiz Yukmek Yaruk", which is considered a fictional sutra written in the ancient Uyghur language. The article uses comparative-historical, grouping, analysis, translation, and comparison methods. In order to achieve the goal of the article, the following results were achieved: words in both languages that convey abstract concepts, express the quality and quantity of objects, express actions, denote kinship relations, religious beliefs, names of natural and human organs, plants, animals, birds, were grouped and compared. Similarities and differences were analyzed. The article is of great practical and theoretical importance. It can be used as an auxiliary teaching tool for the subjects of the history of the Kazakh language and ancient Turkic languages.

Keywords: Turkic languages, Kazakh language, ancient Uyghur language, lexical-semantic groups, comparison, semantic similarity, historical words, linguistic features

Introduction

The study of lexico-semantic groups in Turkic languages plays an important role in uncovering the historical, cultural, and ethnolinguistic ties among peoples. In this context, the comparison of the vocabulary of Old Uyghur and Kazakh languages is of particular interest, as both belong to the Turkic language family, yet reflect different stages of its historical development. Old Uyghur, being one of the earliest written Turkic languages, contains a rich layer of vocabulary related to religion, culture, and everyday life of that time. The Kazakh language, in turn, represents a modern Turkic language that preserves both archaic elements and later borrowings and innovations. The comparison of the lexico-semantic groups of these languages allows us to identify similarities and differences in linguistic worldviews, trace the evolution of meanings and word forms, and establish the continuity of lexical units. Moreover, such research contributes to a deeper understanding of the developmental patterns of Turkic languages and the cultural transformations reflected in language. This study aims to provide a comparative analysis of the lexico-semantic groups in the Old Uyghur and Kazakh languages in order to identify both shared heritage and the unique features of each language.

Comparison of Lexical-Semantic Groups of the old Uyghur and Kazakh ...

The Turkic language family spans a vast area of Eurasia and includes numerous languages, among which Old Uyghur and Kazakh hold an important place. The comparative study of these languages is not only of linguistic interest, but also serves as a valuable source of information on the cultural, historical, and ethnic continuity of Turkic peoples. One of the effective methods of linguistic analysis is the study of lexico-semantic groups—sets of words united by semantic similarity or thematic commonality.

Old Uyghur occupies a special place in the history of Turkic writing. It was used in the Middle Ages (8th–14th centuries) in various areas of public life, including religion (especially Buddhism and Manichaeism), literature, science, and administration [1, 169 p.]. This language is preserved in a rich corpus of written monuments, many of which have come down to us as manuscripts in the Uyghur script. The vocabulary of Old Uyghur contains many words that reflect the realities of its time—from terms related to spiritual culture to those referring to daily life and economic activity. Kazakh, which developed much later, is a modern Turkic language belonging to the Kipchak branch. Despite external influences—including Arabic, Persian, Russian, and Mongolian borrowings—the Kazakh language has preserved a significant portion of the Old Turkic lexical heritage. This makes it possible to conduct a comparative analysis of the Old Uyghur and Kazakh languages to identify semantic and structural continuity as well as differences shaped by historical development, cultural contact, and changes in social structure.

Purpose and Objectives of the Study

The purpose of this study is to conduct a comparative analysis of the lexico-semantic groups of the Old Uyghur and Kazakh languages, to identify their common and distinctive features, and to determine the extent to which historical, cultural, and religious factors influenced the formation of the lexical systems of both languages.

The research objectives include:

classification of lexico-semantic groups in both languages;

identification of common lexical units and their semantic equivalents;

analysis of changes in the meaning and usage of words;

determination of the factors that influenced these changes;

identification of trends in lexical development within the context of the linguistic evolution of Turkic peoples.

Relevance of the Topic

The relevance of this topic is determined by the growing interest in Turkology, historical lexicology, and interlingual contact, as well as the need for a deeper understanding of linguistic and cultural continuity within the Turkic world.

Methods and materials

This study employs a comparative-historical and descriptive method to analyze the lexical-semantic groups of the Old Uyghur and Kazakh languages. The primary goal is to identify similarities and differences in the semantic structures and usage of key lexical groups, which reflect cultural, historical, and linguistic continuities and transformations.

1. Corpus and Sources

To ensure accuracy and depth, the research is based on both primary and secondary sources:

Old Uyghur texts: Religious, administrative, and literary manuscripts from the 8th–14th centuries, including translated Buddhist and Manichaean texts, were used. These texts were accessed through published collections and online corpora of Old Turkic scripts. (Akalın M. (1998) Tarihi Türk Şivelileri, Oda J. (2015) A Study of the Buddhist Sūtra called Säkiz Yükmäkn Yaruq or Säkiz Törlügin Yarumiš Yaltrimiš in Old Turkic, Berliner Turfantexte XXXIII, Ölmez M. (2019) Köktürkçe ve Eski Uygurca Dersleri, Serebrennikov B.A., Gadjieva N.Z. (2018) Türk Yazı Dillerinin Karşılaştırmalı Tarihi Grameri, Şen S. (2021) Eski Uygur Türkçesi Dersleri. Kazakh language sources: Contemporary Kazakh dictionaries, linguistic corpora, and academic works on Kazakh lexicology and historical linguistics, including: Kaliyev G., Bolganbayev A. (2006) Lexicology and Phraseology of the Modern Kazakh Language, Korabay S. (2006) History of Kazakh Literature. Volume 2. Comparative dictionaries and etymological studies of Turkic languages were also consulted to trace semantic development and lexical borrowing.

2. Methodological Approach

Lexical-semantic field analysis: Words were grouped into thematic fields such as kinship terms, nature and environment, body parts, social structure, and abstract concepts (e.g., time, emotion, morality). These groups were compared across both languages.

Etymological tracing: Historical roots of shared lexemes were traced to identify common Turkic origins and language-specific developments.

Semantic shift analysis: Cases of semantic broadening, narrowing, or shift were documented to understand the evolution of meaning in each language.

Quantitative analysis: Frequency and productivity of lexical-semantic fields in both languages were measured where possible to highlight dominance or decline of certain fields.

3. Limitations

Due to the fragmentary nature of Old Uyghur texts, the dataset is limited in scope compared to modern Kazakh. Additionally, some semantic interpretations of Old Uyghur lexemes rely on reconstructed or contextually inferred meanings.

Results and discussion

Words denoting abstract concepts. The Old Uyghur language is also very rich in words denoting abstract concepts. ağı barum, bay barıml(ı)ğ “wealth”, yértingü, ažun “world”, tamu “hell”, emgek “suffering”, irinjü övkilegü “regret, resentment”, kut “blessing, sacred”, tuyuğ “intuition”, ögrünçülük sevinçlig “joyful, cheerful”, bil uk “know, understand”, k(a)rarıq “dark”, y(a)ruk “light”, edgü “good”, yavlak “bad”, küç basut “support”, b(e)lgür “to appear”, tsuy “sin”, kértgünç “sincere”, köjüл “intention”, sakınmak “to think”, tapişsaқ “obeyed, devoted with soul and body”, bügülüг “wise”, batur “to hide”, aság tusu “profit”, yükün “obey, beseech”, turuk süzük “transparent, clean”, ötug “request”, ötün “request, wish, ask”, küü küzedü “protect, guard”, ağrla “show respect” and other words that express abstract concepts [2, Oda, 110-238 p.]. Some words in the Old Uyghur language are used in the Kazakh language with minor changes in personality and sound. In order to show their use in sentences in the Old Uyghur language, we have provided examples from the text of the “Sekiz Yukmek Yaruk”, along with their Kazakh translation.

alkıncısız seviglig bürtmek bürter ol kim bürtmek tétir (178 IIc) / kalıcı sevimli hissleri hisseder kim hessemektir ise / to experience pleasant feelings that last a long time;

y(t)par yükmek (atl(ı)ğ) burhan et’özi bolur taķı yme ((173) Ia) / koku birikimi adlı burhan vücudu olur yine / there is also a sense organ called the sense of smell;

uvutsuz biligi ertiňü küçlüğ erip öpke az almir ķılınçı (71 Ib) utanmazlığı (zamaralığı) güçlüdür kızgin ve hırsa yönelik eylemi / shameless knowledge goes beyond limits, his arrogant and rude behavior;

oğrı oğurlasar tutsuksar (110 Ia) / hırsız hırsızlık yaparsa tutuklarsa / if a thief commits theft and is arrested;

az t(e)ñrim edgüke katıqlanur tınl(ı)ğlar az ayığka tavra-020 IIc1 / az tanrıñ iyilik için çabalayan canlılar az, kötülüğe yönə- / My God, there are few people who turn to good, and few who turn to evil;

yutuz yme bir ēkintike ertiňü amrak bolur ne köñülinde (108 IId) / kari yine bir birine son derece aşık olur ne kalbinde / the couple falls so deeply in love with each other, in their hearts;

ētiglig közünüň körklüğ burhan b(e)lgürer (411 Ia) / süslenmiş ayna gibi güzell bir burhan görünür / a beautiful mirror-like ornament appears;

esiğ yalğan tınl(ı)ğlar üküş t(e)ñrim anı üçün bo yértingüteki (6 IId) / yalancı canlılar çok tanrıñ, onun için bu yeryüzündeki / there are many liars, my God, that's why on this earth;

künta bo nom bitigig üç kata oķızun kızlı kütegüke uluğ törü toğu kılmış (343) 344 IId / günde bu sutrayı üç kere okusun kızları ile damada büyük tören yapsınlar / let him recite this sutra three times a day and have a grand wedding for his daughters and son-in-law.

Names that denote color, quality, etc. Words common to the ancient Turkic languages such as blue kök, white ak, black ķ(a)ra, red ķızıl, tar tar, wide kēñ, etc. denoting color, quality, etc. are also used unchanged in the ancient Uyghur and Kazakh languages [3, 63 p.].

toprak erkligi yer t(e)ñri xanı soltun kök luu öndün ak (94 Ia) / toprak hakimi, yer tanrı hamı, soldan mavi ejderha, sağdan beyaz / soil knowledge: the king of the earth, the blue dragon on the left, the white dragon on the right;

bars küntün ķızıl sağızğan tağdın ķ(a)ra yılan altı kav yaraşmazı (95 IIc) / kaplan, güneyden ķızıl saksagan, (Çin astrolojisine göre tanrı yıldızlarından birinin adı), kuzeyden kara yılan, altı kav tabusu, (astrolojiye göre tanrı yıldızlarından birinin adı) yaraşmazdı (geçinemezdı) / a leopard, a red thirsty snake from the south (the name of one of the gods in Chinese astrology), and a six-foot black snake from the north (the name of one of the gods in astrology) who disagree with each other and cannot get along;

ötrü ol ok ün yene soğançığ ünlüğü ((167) IIc) / sonra o ses yine sevimi ses / then that voice is a pleasant voice;

t(e)rsli oylı edgülü aniğı iki törlüğü (196) Ia / ters doğru, iyi kötü iki türlü / negative and positive, good and bad are two different things;

ulug türü toku iderler türü toku kılmışta kén yene söki 231 IIc / büyük tören yaparlar, tören yaptıktan sonra yine eski / a large feast is served, and after the feast is served, the old one returns; kirmiške sanur turçaru kēñ alķığ könî ulug yolug kodup 274 Ia / girmeyi düşünür, daima geniş, gerçek, büyük kurbanlıklara varıp / thinks about involvement, always making broad, sincere, and great sacrifices.

Numerical names. The category of numbers is one of the main mechanisms used in identifying related language groups. Numbers in Old Uyghur and Kazakh are pronounced and written the same, and have not undergone any changes in personality or meaning. For example: bir is one, iki is two, üç is three, tört is four, bëş is five, altı is six, yiti is seven, sekiz is eight, on is ten, etc. [4, Erdal, 220 p.].

ķaltı ög ķajnıyı bir kye amraķ kenç urı ((250) Ib) / anne babasının bir sevgili oğlunu / a beloved one child of his parents;

okışarlar üç ağıl(1)ķ nom[uğ ķamağ] bir kata okımış teg bolur (438 Ia) / okursalar üç kutsal hazineyi bir kere okumuş gibi olur / if you read it, it will be like reading the three sacred treasures once;

ķamağ tinl(1)ğlarda tuğmaķ ölmek bo iki törlüğ türü ertijü (226 IId) / bütün canlılarda doğmak ölmek bu iki türlü kural çok / in all living beings, these two different rules of birth and death are followed;

meñi menjileyür azu ķodi üç y(a)vlaķ yolka kirür emgek emgenü (198 Ia) / sevinçlerini paylaşıyorlar veya çok kötü üç yolla gider, eziyet çeker / share their joys or fall into three very bad paths, suffering;

têtir edgü kılınçl(1)ğ üçün alkûğun y(a)vlaks(1)zn tört bulunuğ (244 Ia) / dır iyi davranış için herkese kötülüksüz dört köşeyi / four corners without evil to everyone for good relations;

bës azun tñl(1)ğ têtir tñnsız erser kamağı 1 iğac yaş ot [tuğar b(e)lgürer] (323 Ia) / bës alem (dünya) canlıdır, cansız ise bütün yetişen ağaç, yeşil ottur / if the five worlds are entered, all trees and green grass enter the inanimate;

körser ötrü öjn körk ulati altı törlüg yağida [öjni] kurtulur (156 IIc) / görse sonra güzellik ve diğerleri altı türlü düşmandan iyi kurtulur / then beauty and others were successfully saved from six different enemies;

üçün bo nom bitigig yiti kata okısar ölmüş ög kaj özüti anta kığa ok kurtulur (125 IIc) / için bu kitabı yedi kere okursa ölmüş ana baba ruhu böylece zorluktan kurtulur / therefore, if you read this book seven times, the spirits of your deceased parents will be freed from trouble;

bodunta bar erser ötrü anta sekiz bodistvlar e兹rua hormuzta (142 IIc) / halkta vardır ondan sonra orada sekiz budistler zervan tanrısı urmuzd (yukarı tanrı) / the people then have eight Buddhist deities, the god Urmuzd (the supreme god);

nom idisi têtir kim կayu üç ağılık [nom] iki y(i)g(i)rmi böyük nomuğ (201 Ib) / öğretisidir kim hangi üç hazinenin (sutranın) on iki böyük kanununun / who is behind the teaching of the twelve sections of the Three Treasures (sutras);

kigürür on edgü kılınç kültürur özütleri t(e)ñri yeriñe barır yene (256 Ia) / girer, on iyi amel yapırıç vücutları tanrı yerine gider, yine (başkanları) / they will fall, perform ten good deeds, their bodies will go to the land of their gods, and so on (leaders);

tép tétürler on edgü kılınçl(1)ğ töriðe boşgutda burhanlar yrlığınta (271 Ia) / diyorlar on iyi amel yazılın kanunda öğretide burhanlar emrinde / the ten good deeds are written in the law, in the book of instruction, according to the command of the Burkhangs;

yëti tümen yëti miý bodunlar t(e)ñri burhan y(a)rlığın eşidip (302 Ib) / yetmiş yedi bin halk tanrı burhan emrin duyup / seventy-seven thousand people heard the divine decree;

ol ödün bës yüz t(e)ñri oğlanı ol kuvrağda erür ertiler t(e)ñri t(e)ñrisi (221 IIc) / o zaman bës yüz tanrı oğlanı o toplantıdadırlar tanrıların tanrısı / at that time, five hundred gods were present in that great assembly, the god of gods;

kavışurlar kız bérişip k(e)lin içgerip miý yıl tümen künki (311 Ia) / görüşürler kız verip gelin alıp, onlar bin yıl ve on bin gün / they meet to give a girl and take a bride, they are a thousand years and ten thousand days;

teginmiş ergeyler ulati altı tümen altı miý toyınlار şımnançlar upası (429-430 Ia) / ulaşmaya çabalandılar ve diğer altmış altı bin keşiş ve rahibe, dinleyici erkek ve / tried to reach and others sixty-six thousand religious leaders, male listeners and;

yıl yılı ertinü edgü artuk yavaş bitig iş işleser yëtinç (300 Ib) / yıllar boyu son derece iyi çok nazik sutrayı okuyup, (işlesinler) çalışınlar yedinci / seventh, may he read and study such a good and wonderful holy book for years;

köñül bilig bo erür en ilkı köz bilig ikinti kulak bilig üçünç (397 Ia) / gönü'l bilgisi budur ilk olan (birincisi) göz bilgisi ikinci kulak bilgisi üçüncüüsü / the knowledge of the heart is the first, the knowledge of the eyes is the second, the knowledge of the ears is the third;

burun bilig törtünç til bilig bèsinç etöz bilig altınç köñül (398 Ia) / burun bilgisi dördüncüüsü dil bilgisi beşincisi vücut bilgisi altıncısı kalp (gönü'l) / nose knowledge, fourth language knowledge, fifth body knowledge, sixth heart (mind);

bilig yètinç adıra tēp tuyuğlu bilig sekizinç ağılık kömsü bilig қaltı (399 Ib) / bilgisi yedincisi ayırt etme bilinci (bilinç farkı) sekizincisi (kesin) mutlak hazine bilincidir / the seventh is the knowledge of discernment (difference of understanding), and the eighth is the knowledge of the specific, treasured.

Names denoting action. Most of the words denoting action in the Old Uyghur language are widely used in the Kazakh language without any changes. For example: eşid “hear”, kel “come”, erti “was”, örü tur “stand”, aç “open”, çök “sink”, ötün “pray”, üzül “break”, yaşa “do”, öl “die”, tile “wish”, bol “be”, bér “give”, kork “fear”, tüs “fall”, tod “be full”, yori “walk”, bil “know”, uk “listen”, kıl “do”, öpkile “breathe”, té “say”, ķutrul “save”, tiŋlaŋ “listen”, kötrül “rise, rise”, bütür “finish”, yara “suitable, useful”, kod “put”, tut “consume, use, hold”, küü küzedü “guard”, oki “read”, nomla “read, learn”, tapın udun “find”, ışle “do, create”, ķarış “fight, fight”, son “extinguish”, êt yarat “create”, tokı “weave, weave”, başla “begin”, kit “go”, yaraş “match”, bar “go”, oğurla “steal”, örten “burn”, sözle “speak”, tuğ “birth”, ayıt “say”, ak “flow”, arta buzul “break down, spoil, stink”, bütür “finish”, kör “see”, tat “taste”, yağılma “not to be mistaken”, yorıt “to come to light, to crawl”, atan “name”, ökün “regret”, unit “forget”, ötgür “pass, pass”, çom “swim, bathe”, bat “sunset”, aç “open”, kıl “do”, bol “be”, bar “go”, sacıl “to sprinkle”, tökül “to pour”, ayıt “to say, speak”, tiŋla “to listen”, biltür “to express”, işlet “to do, to make”, büt “to sow”, tér “to pick”, açıl “to open”, kiter “to remove”, sin “to break”, ur “to hit”, ornan “to place”, tur “to live, to live”, süzül “to filter, to purify”, körüş “to see”, ķavış “to gather”, tēril “to pick, to gather”, yaraş “to make”, batur “to hide, to immerse”, yükün “to fall”, yarıl “to burst”, sökünd “to bend, to sink”, ķavşır “vomit”, yaltr “shine”, atan “to be called”, üzlün “to break, stop”, büt “to end, to end”, bulğa “to mix”, tintur söntür “to extinguish”, ulğat “to enlarge, to enlarge”, ķarı “to grow old”, etc. Below are examples from the text of the “Sekiz Yukmek Yaruk”.

ötrü olurmuş orunntın örü turup oj egninteki tonın birtin açınıp tizin çökitip 011 IIc / sonra oturduğu yerden ayağa kalkıp, sağ omzundaki elbiselerinin bir tarafını açıp, diz kırıp, / then he stood up, opened one side of his garment on his right shoulder, and bent his knees;

[neñ] bilmez ukmaz kim m(e)niñ aşnuñkı ažunta ķılmış öz ķılınçım (16 Ia) / önceki hayatimdaki yaptığım kendi amellerim bana öyle acı çektiđığını kimse bilmiyor, anlamıyor / no one knows or understands how much suffering my actions in my past life have caused me;

soğançığ nom ötünürsiz sizler kam(a)ğ tözünler koduru tılayılar (25 Ia) tatlı (hoşgörülü) öğretiyi isterseniz, sizler bütün soylular çok dikkatli dinleyin, / if you want a book of healing (teaching) for the soul, listen carefully, all of you;

ķayu tınl(ı)ğ etiglig yaratılığ iş küdük kent uluș ev bark (79 IIc) / hangi canlı (eğer birisi) yapılmış iş, şehir, kasaba, ev / what kind of creature (if any) is the city, village, house being built;

kodurlar irak tezerler bodsuz köligesiz barırlar nej ada tuda ķılu (99 IId) / bırakıp ayrırlılar, vücsuz, gölgesiz giderler, asla zarar vermeyi / leaves, without a body, without a shadow, without causing any harm;

ol tınl(ı)ğ örtke kirser örtenmegey suvda ölmegey taǵda önde yerde (115 IIc) / o canlı yangına girse yanmasın, suda ölmesin, daǵda, vahsi doğada, yerde / if that creature enters a fire, it will not burn, nor will it die in water, whether in the mountains, on the plains, or on the ground;

tegsilmez artamaz buzulmaz alkinmaz yokadmaz ol burhanlarn(ı)ŋ (206 Ia) / değişmez, bozulmaz (hor olmaz) ezilmez yok olmaz o burhanların / unaltered, uncorrupted (not desecrated), unobstructed, unlost [5, 7-750 p.]; [6, 10-550 p.].

Names related to kinship relationships. The names оғыл and қыз in the old Uyghur language are used in the Kazakh language in the same way as boy and girl. It is known from ancient written monuments that father and mother have been called ер and хах since the old Turkic language. In the old Uyghur language, which is the official continuation of the Turkic khaganates, it is also natural to use mother and father as ер ер ög and хах kaŋ.

incep oğulu kızı baǵrı boşuki kası ķadaşı ölmış ögi ķanı [özüti] (124 Ia) / böylece oğlu kızı, dönürü, akrabaları (kardeşi) ölmüş anası, babası, özü / thus, his eldest daughter, in-laws, relatives (brothers), his deceased mother, father, and himself.

Names of nature and names related to celestial bodies. We have noticed that many words related to names of nature and celestial bodies are the same in the Old Uyghur and Kazakh languages. For example: earth yér, water suv, mountain taǵ, soil toprak, stone taş, sun kün, moon ay, etc.

inça bilij birök bo nom bitig bo çambudvip atl(ı)ğ yér suvda ķayu ķayu yerde (141 IIc) / böyle bilin fakat bu kitap bu dünyanın yöneticisi adlı yer ve suda hangi hangi erde / know that this is so, but this book is the ruler of this world, everywhere on land and in water;

ol tınl(ı)ğ örtke kirser örtenmegey suvda ölmegey taǵda önde yerde (115 IIc) / o canlı yangına girse yanmasın, suda ölmesin, daǵda, vahsi doğada, yerde / if that creature enters a fire, it will not burn, nor will it die in water, whether in the mountains, on the plains, or on the ground;

üç қata ol yerde okımış k(e)rgek anta kén toprak (81 IIc) / üç kere orada okuması gerek, ondan sonra yeri (toprağı) / must recite it three times on the spot, then on the ground (soil);

küdenlik ev bark uluğ kiçig ķapıq ķuduğ otçuk taş sokğu tegirmen (86 IIc) / misafir odası, büyük ve küçük kapı, kuyu, ocak, taş havan (soku), değırmen, / living room, large and small door, well, hearth, stone kiln, mill;

kaşınçığ korkinçığ erkliglernij atları bo [erür] kün yorigı ay ölüçi erklig ((91)92 Ia) / korkunç güçlerin adları bunlardır; güneş yürüyüşü ay (denen) öldürücü, güçlü / the names of the terrible forces are: the rotation of the sun, the murderous force of the moon;

ertinü ulug kęñjig ertinü yaruk (243 Ib) / çok büyük geniş çok parlak / very large, spacious, very bright;

tayşuy sar(1)ğ urunguluğ ırbis ķudrukı yumuzuğluğ beş törlüğ (93 Ia) / Jüpiter sarı sancaklı, vaşak (çin astrolojisine göre gökteki yıldızlardan birinin adı), kuyruğu bayraklı beş türlü / Jupiter has a yellow flag, a leopard tail (the name of one of the stars in the sky according to Chinese astrology), and a five-color flag-bearing Mercury star; bars küntün kızıl sagızğan tağdın k(a)ra yılan altı kav yaraşmazı (95 IIc) / kaplan, güneyden kızıl saksagan, (Çin astrolojisine göre tanrı yıldızlarından birinin adı), kuzeyden kara yılan, altı kav tabusu, (astrolojiye göre tanrı yıldızlarından birinin adı) yaraşmazdi (geçinemezdi) [7, 10-690 p.].

leopards, red-thirst from the south (the name of one of the stars of the Chinese astrology), the northern six-eared black snake (the name of one of the stars of the astrology), is irreverent, unable to communicate.

Names related to human body organs. In all Turkic languages, the same names are used in the ancient Uyghur and Kazakh languages in relation to the common human body. For example: құлқақ kulkak, мұрын burn, тіл til, көңіл köyül, тырнақ turgak, etc. [8, 56 p.].

tētir yme kulkağı turkaru adruk adruk alkıncısız ün eşidür ol kim ün tēp (163 IIc) / onun kulaki daima her türlü susmayan sesi işitiyor (duyuyor) o kimin sesidir / his ear always hears a different nonstop sound whose voice it is;

tētir yme burnı turkaru adruk adruk alkıncısız yid yipar (168 IIc) / dur yine burnu daima türlü türlü kalıcı güzel kokunu / at the same time, there is always a variety of long-term anodyne on the head;

tilin turkaru adruk adruk alkıncısız tatılgış tatılgış tatar ol kim tatılgış tatılgış tēp tētir (174 IIc) / dilin daima türlü türlü kalıcı tadi dener kim tatlı tat diye söylese / your tongue always tastes a variety of long-term tastes, who says it's a sweet taste;

öz könjülm et'özüm burhanlarn(i)ň nom tözi yıltızı erür tēp (217 Ib) / öz kalbim, vücadum, burhanların öğreti esası, köküdür diye bilmese / my heart, my body, the foundation of training, the bottom of the burhans;

yine kişi etözin buluǵalı antaǵ ol қaltı bo turgak üzeki toprakça (336 Ib) / yine kişi vücadunu bularak böyle o bu turnak üstündeki toprak gibi / find the body again, and it's like the soil above the nail [9, 106 p.].

Words associated with plant names. There are very few words associated with the names of plants in the text Секىз йүкмек йарук in our research facility. Analyzing the text, we learned that hu'a means "flower" and ali means the name of the tree "arzhaka".

t(e)ñriler ulatı կамағ yaruk t(e)ñriler [tözün yavaş] kutlar vahşiklar turkaru hu'a (143 Ib) / tanrılar ve diğerleri bütün parlak tanrılar özleri yavaş, merhametli ruhları daima çicek / the foundation of all the glossy tegans of the tenacies and others is soft, the spirits are kind ol yavlak tek içgeknin başı yeti öni yarılgay ince klti ali (375 IId) / o kötü vampirin başı yediye ayrılır arjaka / let the head of the bad vampire be divided into seven parts iğaq teg ol ödün elkinçsz ülgüsüz etözlüg bodistv orninta (376 Ia) / ağacının dalları gibi o zaman süreklı ölçüsüz vücutlu Bodhisatva yerinden / like a tree tree, a buddhist with a non-stop, immortile body at the same time.

Words related to the names of animals and birds. Since most of the names of animals and birds are Turkic words, they are used equally in both languages (ancient Uyghur and Kazakh).

For example: жылқы yulki, барыс bars, бөрі böri, ұлу luu, қарақұс (бүркіт) krakuş [10, 185 p.].

ағылх kömsülük ulatı yulkiqa atlık kişihe batıglichka tegi (87 IIc) / depo ve hayvanlara ahır ve insanlara tuvalet / storage, animal feed, and people to the toilet;

қанта yorisar bars irbis böri ulatı yavlak tinliglar alku (116 Ib) / nerede yürürse kaplan, leopar, kurt ve başkaları kötü canlıların hepsi / where verdant leopards, lions, wolves and others kirdiler sansaz sağıssz t(e)ñriler yekler ulug küçlüg luular ((431) Ia) / girdiler sayısız tanrılar şeytanlar büyük güçlü ejderhalar / the satans, the great powerful dragons, the innumerable tenographers; [11, 203 p.].

knıtlar asurilar talim krakuş hanları gantarvilar mahuruglar kişiler (432 Ib) / gontarvi, asura, yırtıcı kartal, kinarular, mayorogiler kişileri / cantavra, aura, predatory eagle, minarets, majorogi people;

Names related to religious beliefs. There are a lot of terms associated with buddhism, because the work of Секиз йүкмек йарук in our research facility is a work that promotes Buddhism.

теңри тенриси teyri teyrisi, бүркән burhan, дарни darni, судур sudur, вайшалы vayşali, чамбудивип çambudivip, кам cam, чхшапты çxşapti, арвыш arviş, вахшиклер vahşiklar, шамну şamnu, эзруа хормузта ezrua xormuzta, архант arkant, пртикубут prtikubut, шравиклер şraviklar, низванилер nizvanilar, этөз et'öz, шлок такшут şlok takşut, биш азун тынлығ (bış azun tınlıq), бадра (badra), ратнақр (ratnakr), нарайан (narayan), сумир sumir, интрадати intradati, тайшинг махайана tayşing mahayana, нирван nirvāṇa, парамит битиг paramit bitig, тойынлар toyinlar, шмнанчлар şmnançlar, упаси upasi, упасанч upasanç, т.б.

tamudaki emgeklig tınl(ı)ğlar alku ozdi kurtultı edgü et'özke kirdiler (423 Ia) / cehennemdeki eziyet çeken canlıların hepsi özgür oldular kurtuldular iyi vücuda kavuştular / all those who suffered in the hell were liberated, saved and included in the good body;

t(e)ñrisi burhan tidiğsiz bodistvka inca tēp yarılkadı vipaşı burhan ödinte yme (129 IIc) / tanrisi burhan engelsiz budistvaya böyle diye emr etti vipaşı (hoca) burhanlar zamanında yine / impeccable budist was told again in the days of the burhans by the emir vipashi (teacher); ani bilir ani ötgürür antada öni arhant prtikubutlar (209 Ia) / onu bilir, onu anlar (başından geçirir) başka arhant (kutsal) pratikabutlar (nirvanaya yetişemeyen Budhalar) / other archaeological (sacred) praticabutts (buddhas that cannot be fully transferred) ulatı қам(a)ғ śraviklar azu қамағ nizvanilar(i) basmış yalňuklar (210 Ia) / diğer bütün (śarvik) Budhanın öğrencileri veya bütün tutku kapan insanlar / all other (sharwick) Buddha students or all (buddha) people who have fallen;

agam bitig nirvan bitig belgürer ((415) Ib) / agama sutrası ve mahayana kitabı görünür / agama sutra and the book of the mahayana appear [12, 25-705 p.].

bolmaz tınl(1)ǵlar üküş t(e)ńrim buşı bërgeli aki tınl(1)ǵlar az (4 IId) / olmayan canlar çok tanrımlı, sadaka veren cömert canlılar az / a lot of non-preachers, few people who are so beggars;

törü tokı կılıp üntürür künte bo [nom] bitigig üç қata oķızun (285 Ia) / ölüm töreni görenegini yapıp, ağladığı gün bu sütrayı (darmayı) üç kere okusun / the day of death, and the day of absence, let him reread this sutra three times;

tınl(1)ǵlar ölüğ kişi üçün sin orun étgeli yaratǵalı saňıncı sakınsar [özleri] қanta ((289) 290 IIId) / canlılar ölen kişi için kabir yeri yapmayı düşünseler kendileri nasıl / What if the owner of life thinks of preparing a tortoise for the dead.

Names associated with social groups. Words which were used in ancient Uygur language such as ҳан han, ұлыс uluš, құң kūn, құл қуул, бай bay, жау яғы, etc. are also used in the Kazakh language without any change. Such words as Bodoun and Saghai serve as a significant change in the Kazakh language. The word Bodoun is used in ancient Turkic languages in the sense of “people under the control of foreign rule” in the face of the people, having undergone a sound change in the Kazakh language in the form of a bodan and a meaningful change in the words of the people. The word “Syghai” is also a poor concept in the ancient Turkic languages, and in the Kazakh language the meaning is changed, and in the image of “Shigaybay” he will come up with the phrase “shyk bermes Shigaybay” [13, 302 p.].

et’ öz tegşürüp kelirler ol ēligler hanlar yme alķuňa y(a)rlıkançuçı (249 IIc) / vücutlarını değiştirirler o hükümdarlar, hanlar yine bütün merhametli / they change their body he managers, khans again all kind oğlın evde barkta igidürce bodunka nej yavlak saňıncı yok (251 Ib) / evde yetiştirirse (eğitirse) halka kötü düşünceleri olmaz / if he raises (educates) his son at home, he would not have bad intentions toward the people;

ulusı balıkı bulunçsuz bucgaksız tēp қамағ bodunu turkaru bodistv-(427) Ib / his country, city, being limitless and boundless, the whole people would continuously be Buddhists;

iki y(i)girmi erkligi toprağıdağı қarı başı atlığı yüzlüğü bataǵl(1)kdakı (96 Ib) / twelve wise men, elders, and noble people in the pit of excrement / twelve wise men, elders, and noble people in the pit of excrement;

yoriǵlı erklig xan süüsün başlaǵucı (91 Ia) / the rotation, the leader of Erklig Khan’s army / the rotation, the leader of Erklig Khan’s army;

ķadaş kūn қuul bir ēkintike қarişur otlı suvl(1) teg64 IIc / relatives, maidservants, slaves quarrel with each other like fire and water / relatives, maidservants, slaves quarrel with each other like fire and water;

üküş t(e)ŋrim bay bariml(1)ğ tnl(1)ğlar az yok (024 IIc) / many gods, few wealthy people / many gods, few wealthy people;

çığay tınlıqlar üküş t(e)ŋrim tözün (025 IIc) / poor people, many gods / poor people, many gods;

körser ötrü öñj körk ulatı altı törlüg yağında [öñj] kurtulur (156 IIc) / if he sees, then beauty and others escape well from six different enemies / if he sees, then beauty and others escape well from six different enemies [14, 15-705 p.].

Names of household items

1) Names of things that are related to household

In the Sekiiz Yükmek Yaruq text, there are not many household item names. The terms used in the Old Uighur language for household items like ķuduğ (well), otçuk (hearth), tegirmen (mill), aşl(1)k (kitchen) are the same in Kazakh [15, 2 p.].

küdenlik ev barkı uluğ kiçig ķapıq ķuduğ otçuk taş soğğu tegirmen (86 IIc) / guest room, large and small door, well, hearth, stone mortar, mill yıňaқ kēd'in yıňaқ ékidin sıňar bulan anta ulatı aşl(1)k (85 Ia) / on the south, north, both sides have corridors and together with this, kitchen

ağılık kömsülük ulatı yırkıka atlık kişiķe batıglıkkä tegi (87 IIc) / storage and barn for animals, toilet for people

2) Food-related terms

In the text we examined, there are very few food-related terms. The term aş içgü refers to the concept of eating and drinking, which is translated as “eating and drinking food.”

üze ilenürler uzatı ince tapınzun udunzun aş içgü k(e)lürzün (268 Ia) / they announce that it is above (inaccessible), and thus they worship and bring food and drink for themselves

3) Clothing-related terms

In the Sekiiz Yükmek Yaruq text, there is only one term for clothing, k(e)dgü tonagu, which refers to clothes, and there are no other words related to clothing.

k(e)dgü tonagu ulatı as(1)ğ tusu ķılur (392 Ia) / they give clothes and fulfill other needs

4) Measurement-related terms

Words related to measurements, such as uzun (long), az (few), ulgat (growth), etc., used in Old Uighur, are also used in the Kazakh language in the same form.

-nur ermegü tınlıqlar üküş t(e)ŋrim uzun yaşıyur tnl(1)ğlar az (021 IIc) / lazy, indifferent beings; many gods, few long-living beings

üküş t(e)ŋrim bay bariml(1)ğ tnl(1)ğlar az yok (024 IIc) / many gods, few wealthy beings bëş törlüg yini yme k(e)ntün bolmuş [ol] tétir ulgatsar k(e)ntün ulugadur karısar (448 449 IIc) / with five types of body, as you grow older, you will also grow and get older kolusuz ölmez tek kértgünç köjül üçün ança utlısı (50 IIc) / one who doesn't die without time, a true believer is rewarded this way tüzü tüketti étmiş yaratmış k(e)rgek ötrü ol ödün yér altınkılar (88 IIc) / one must complete everything, then at that time, those under the ground ağ(ı)r tétir tuğdukta kün talulamaz ödi tegdükte ötrü tugar (227 Ia) / the day we are born is heavy, and when the time comes, we will be born.

Conclusion

The comparative study of the lexico-semantic groups of Old Uyghur and Kazakh has revealed both stable elements of linguistic continuity and significant differences arising from the historical and cultural development of each language. Despite the temporal and geographical distance between the two language systems, the analysis shows that the Kazakh language has largely inherited the lexical and semantic features characteristic of Old Uyghur. This is most evident in basic lexical groups related to nature, kinship, labor activities, and social organization.

Shared lexico-semantic groups point to deep typological and genetic connections between the two languages, rooted in their common Turkic origin. Words denoting natural phenomena, life processes, elements of traditional life, and spiritual culture largely coincide or display semantic proximity. At the same time, the Kazakh language developed under different historical circumstances, leading to borrowings from other languages (notably Arabic, Persian, and Russian), as well as the formation of new words and meanings shaped by changes in lifestyle, religion, and social institutions. It was also established that part of the Old Uyghur vocabulary did not survive in the Kazakh language or changed its meaning, indicating natural processes of linguistic evolution. Some lexico-semantic groups relevant during the Old Uyghur era (for example, terms from Buddhist or Manichaean contexts) have lost their relevance in modern Kazakh and were replaced by other lexemes or forgotten entirely. Thus, the results of the analysis allow us to conclude that the Kazakh language, on the one hand, is a successor to the Old Turkic lexical tradition, and on the other hand, is a living, evolving language reflecting changes in the culture and consciousness of its people. The comparative study of the lexico-semantic groups of the two languages deepens our understanding of the historical dynamics of Turkic languages and contributes to the preservation and promotion of their shared cultural and linguistic heritage.

Finally, it is worth noting that further research in this direction could be expanded through the analysis of other Turkic languages and the incorporation of materials from archaeology, ethnography, and cultural studies, which would offer a more comprehensive view of the development paths of the Turkic linguistic world.

REFERENCES

- [1] Caferoğlu A. Türk Dili Tarihi I-II. [Turkish Language History I-II]. 4th Edition. –İstanbul, 2000. – 246 p. [in Turkish]

- [2] Oda Juten. A Study of the Buddhist Sūtra called Säkiz Yükmäk Yaruq or Säkiz Törlügin Yarumiš Yaltrimiš in Old Turkic, Berliner Turfantexte XXXIII, Brepols Publishers, Turnhout (Belgium), 2015. – 319 p.
- [3] Gabain A. Eski Türkçenin Grammeri [Grammar of Old Turkish]. Türk Tarih Kurumu. – Ankara, 1988. – 313 p. [in Turkish]
- [4] Erdal M. A Grammar of Old Turkic. Leiden – Boston: Brill, 2004. – 575 p.
- [5] Wilkens J. Handwörterbuch des Altugurischen / Eski Uygurcanın El Sözlüğü, Universitätsverlag – Göttingen, 2021. – 496 p. [in Deutsch]
- [6] Kazak Tilinin Tusindirme Sozdigi [Explanatory Dictionary of the Kazakh language]. – Almaty: Dyke-Press, 2008. [in Kaz.]
- [7] Nasilov D. M., Kormushin I.V., Dybo A.V., etc. Drevneturkskii slovar [Ancient Turkic Dictionary]. – Astana: «Gylym», 2006. – 760 s. [in Rus.]
- [8] Şen S. Eski Uygur Türkçesi Dersleri [Old Uyghur Turkish Lessons]. Kesit yayınları. – İstanbul, 2021. – 303 p. [in Turkish]
- [9] Oda Juten. A Study of the Buddhist Sūtra Called Säkiz Yükmäk Yaruk or Säkiz Törlügin Yarumış Yaltrimiš in Old Turkic, Text Volume [I]; Facsimile Volume [II]. – Kyoto: Hōzōkan, 2010. – 319 p.
- [10] Kaliyev G., Bolganbayev A. Kazirgi kazak tilinin leksikologiyası men frazeologiyası. [Lexicology and Phraseology of the Modern Kazakh Language]. – Almaty: Sozdik-Slovar Publishing House, 2006. – 264 b. [in Kaz.]
- [11] Oba E. Kazakçanın Tarihi Türk Lehçelerine Göre Söz Varlığı [Vocabulary of Kazakh Language According to Historical Turkic Dialects]. IQ Kültür Sanat Yayıncılık. – İstanbul, 2020. – 604 p. [in Turkish]
- [12] Clauson Sir Gerard. An Etymological Dictionary of Pre-Thirteenth-Century Turkish. – Oxford, 1972. – 989 p.
- [13] Korabay S. Kazak adebiyetinin tarihi [History of Kazakh Literature]. In Ten Volumes. Volume 2. – Almaty: KazInform, 2006. – 444 b. [in Kaz.]
- [14] Eren H. Türk Dilinin Etimolojik Sözlüğü [Etymological Dictionary of the Turkish Language]. Türk Dil Kurumu Yayınları. – Ankara, 2020. – 788 p. [in Turkish]
- [15] Burkitbayeva Sh., Olmez M. On the Use of Historical Reduplicatives in the Modern Kazakh Language // Journal «Bulletin. Series: Philological Sciences». – 2024. – №3 (74). – P. 32 -53. <https://doi.org/10.48371/PHILS.2024.3.74.003>

КӨНЕ ҮЙҒЫР ЖӘНЕ ҚАЗАҚ ТІЛДЕРІНІҢ ЛЕКСИКА-СЕМАНТИКАЛЫҚ ТОПТАРЫН ӨЗАРА САЛЫСТЫРУ

*Бұркітбаева Ш.Д.¹, Аширкулов К.²

¹ Ұстамбұл университеті, Әдебиет факультеті,

Қазіргі түркі тілдері кафедрасы, Ұстамбұл, Түркия

² Нигде Әмбет Халисдемир университеті, Гуманитарлық-әлеуметтік
тылымдар факультеті, Түрк тілі мен әдебиеті бөлімі, Нигде, Түркия

Аннотация. Мақалада түсінкан көне үйғыр және қазақ тілдерінің лексика-семантикалық топтары өзара салыстырылды. Екі тілдегі сөздердің сәйкестіктері дыбыстық және мағыналық жағынан талданды. Мақаланың мақсаты ескі үйғыр тілінде пайданылған сөздердің қазіргі қазақ тілінде қаншалықты қолданыста екендігін анықтау, түбі бір екі тілдің лексика-семантикалық топтарын салыстыру арқылы туысқандықтарын нақтылау. Мақаланың өзектілігі бұрын-соңды қазақ тілінде ауқымды түрде қарастырылмаған көне үйғыр және қазақ тілдерінің лексика-семантикалық топтары алғаш рет ғылыми тұрғыдан қолға алынып отыр.

Мақаланы жазу барысында келтірілген мысалдар көне үйғыр тілінде жазылған, ойдан құрастырылған сутра ретінде танылған «Секиз Йұмек Йарук» мәтінінен алынды. Мақалада салыстырмалы-тариҳи, топтау, талдау, аудару, салыстыру әдіс-тәсілдері қолданылды. Мақаланың мақсатына жету үшін қойған міндеттері негізінде төмендегідей нәтижелерге қол жеткізілді: екі тілдегі абстрактілі ұғымды беретін сөздер, заттың сынын, санын білдіретін, іс-қимылды білдіретін, туыстық қатынас, діни нағым-сенім атауларын, табиғат және адам мүшелерінің, өсімдік, жан-жануар, аң-құс атауларын білдіретін сөздер топталып, салыстырылды. Ұқсас тұстары мен өзгешеліктері талданды. Мақаланың практикалық және теориялық маңызы зор. Қазақ тілі тарихы, көне түркі тілдері пәндеріне көмекші оқу құралы ретінде қолдануға болады.

Tірек сөздер: түркі тілдері, қазақ тілі, көне үйғыр тілі, лексика-семантикалық топтар, салыстыру, мағыналық ұқсастиқ, тарихи сөздер, тілдік ерекшеліктері

СРАВНЕНИЕ ЛЕКСИКО-СЕМАНТИЧЕСКИХ ГРУПП ДРЕВНЕЙГУРСКОГО И КАЗАХСКОГО ЯЗЫКОВ

*Буркитбаева Ш.Д.¹, Аширкулов К.²

¹Стамбульский университет, факультет литературы, кафедра современных тюркских языков Стамбул, Турция

²Университет Нигде Омера Халисдемира, Институт социальных наук, факультет гуманитарных и социальных наук, Нигде, Турция

Аннотация. В статье сравниваются лексико-семантические группы древнеуйгурского и казахского языков, которые относятся к тюркским языкам. Были проанализированы соответствия слов в двух языках по звучанию и значению. Цель статьи – определить, в какой степени слова, употребляемые в древнеуйгурском языке, используются в современном казахском языке, и выяснить их родство путем сравнения лексико-семантических групп двух языков. Актуальность статьи заключается в том, что впервые в научной работе рассматриваются лексико-семантические группы древнеуйгурского и казахского языков, которые ранее не подвергались широкому изучению в казахском языке.

Приведенные в статье примеры взяты из текста «Секиз Юкмек Ярук», который считается вымышленной сутрой, написанной на древнеуйгурском языке. В статье использованы сравнительно-исторический, группировочный, аналитический, переводческий и сравнительный методы. Исходя из поставленных задач для достижения цели статьи были достигнуты следующие результаты: в обоих языках найдены слова, передающие абстрактные понятия, описывающие предметы, выражающие количество, выражающие действия, выражающие родственные отношения, религиозные верования, названия природных и Органы человека, растения, животные. Слова, обозначающие названия животных и птиц, были сгруппированы и сравнены. Были проанализированы сходства и различия. Статья имеет большое практическое и теоретическое значение. Может быть использовано как вспомогательное учебное пособие по предметам истории казахского языка и древнетюркских языков.

Ключевые слова: тюркские языки, казахский язык, древний уйгурский язык, лексико-семантические группы, сравнение, семантическое сходство, исторические слова, языковые особенности

Received: April 25, 2025

Information about the authors:

Burkitbayeva Shynaray Dubirovna – doctoral student of the Department of Modern Turkic Languages, Istanbul University, Faculty of Literature, Istanbul, Turkey, e-mail: burkitbaeva.1975@mail.ru, ORCID ID: 0000-0001-8235-4213

Ashirkulov Kanat – doctoral student of the Department of Niğde Ömer Halisdemir University, Institute of Social Sciences, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, Department of Turkish Language and Literature, Niğde, Türkiye, e-mail: kanat.ashirkulov@gmail.com, ORCID ID: 0009-0004-3439-5941

Авторлар туралы мәлімет

Бұркітбаева Шынарай Дубіркызы – Істамбұл университеті, Әдебиет факультеті, Қазіргі түркі тілдері кафедрасының докторанты, Істамбул, Түрция, e-mail: burkitbaeva.1975@mail.ru, ORCID ID: 0000-0001-8235-4213

Аширкулов Канат – Нигде Өмер Халисдемир университеті, Әлеуметтік ғылымдар институты, гуманитарлық-әлеуметтік ғылымдар факультеті, Түрік тілі мен әдебиеті бөлімінің докторанты, Нигде, Турция, e-mail: kanat.ashirkulov@gmail.com, ORCID ID: 0009-0004-3439-5941

Сведения об авторах:

Буркитбаева Шынарай Дубировна – Стамбульский университет, факультет литературы, Докторант кафедры современных тюркских языков, Стамбул, Турция, e-mail: burkitbaeva.1975@mail.ru, ORCID ID: 0000-0001-8235-4213

Аширкулов Канат – Университет Нигде Омера Халисдемира, Институт социальных наук, Факультет гуманитарных и социальных наук, докторант кафедры турецкого языка и литературы, Нигде, Турция, e-mail: kanat.ashirkulov@gmail.com, ORCID ID: 0009-0004-3439-5941